In a desert forlorn I wished clouds be near Rain issued forth beauties true and sheer
When the whole sky was iridescent sphere
Someone said within me that God is Fair

When the stars were smiling in darkest night
In the heart of gloom were scattering light
When the bleak aspects of life seemed bright
Someone said within me that God is Right

When the rose was blooming somewhere out of dust
Velvet petals were erupting from soil's crust

In the world I thought who came at first Someone said within me that God is Just

In a dream tonight I saw my soul
Like a sudden spark from darkening hole

I mused about life's fact and role
Someone said within me that God is Whole.
